

'Advanced Accreditation of Nature Based Therapy'

Created by Kit Kline © 2023

CANADA COURSE OVERVIEW

naturebasedtherapy.com.au

INTRODUCTION

Nature Based Therapy (NBT) provides professional training for people who would like to incorporate nature-based interventions into their practice or begin a career as a Nature Based Therapist.

The training draws on Indigenous knowledges, nature-based creative practices, holistic counselling, nutrition and holistic health care in its approach to nature-based therapy. It includes an exploration of emerging theory in the field of nature-based therapy and incorporates experiential learning.

Central to our work is the symbiotic relationship between the self and nature and the potential for parallel development of self-knowledge and knowledge about nature. We work with embodied and sensory understandings of nature and connection through observations and practical applications.

Our innovative one-year Advanced Accreditation training program is the first of its kind in Nature Based Therapy. The course journeys throughout the year embracing the seasons and cycles.

MODE OF DELIVERY

IN PERSON – Courtenay, British Columbia, Canada

Our training is immersive and held in a natural environment. Courses work with small groups (6-12 students max) to encourage connection with the natural world, ourselves, and others.

The face-to-face course takes place in person over 4 weekends throughout the year at the commencement of each season.

2023 residential training dates.

April 15th & 16th 2023

June 24th & 25th 2023

September 16th & 17th 2023

December 8th & 9th 2023

Please note: dates may slightly change due to student/teacher/venue availability but only by 1 week.

PROGRAM FOUNDER / TRAINER

Kit Kline is the founder of internationally recognised modality Nature Based Therapy.

Born in Canada, she is a decedent of the Wampanoag people on her paternal side and is a member of the Sou'West Nova Metis Council. Kit has always felt a strong connection to her Native American ancestry and believes her philosophy on health and wellness derives from this connection. She has worked extensively in the social and community services sector for the past 20 years specialising in mental health and addictions. In her practice Kit has always used symbols and metaphors from nature to assist people in understanding themselves and their presenting issues better. Kit has used these methods both professionally and personally and has seen and experienced the benefits first hand. Her experience includes working in crisis accommodation, drug and alcohol treatment facilities and within mainstream community health, private health and Aboriginal community health services as a Counsellor. As well as delivering this training she is currently employed part-time in a youth detox facility.

Kit's qualifications include;

- M.A. Degree of Indigenous Studies
- B. A. Degree of Indigenous Studies
- Diploma of Alcohol & Other Drugs
- Diploma of Welfare Studies
- Diploma of Holistic Healing
- Cert IV in Assessment & Training
- Post Graduate Certificate in Mental Health
- Compassionate Inquiry – Dr Gabor Mate (trauma informed psychotherapy)
- Certificate IV in Youth Work

Kit is currently completing a Master of Social Work with Deakin University. She will bring in her education and experience and align it with Nature Based Therapy.

Kit is a Full Member and an Approved Training Provider with the International Institute of Complimentary therapies (IICT).

Kit is a student member of the Australian Association of Social Workers (MAASW)

Nature Based Therapy is a member of the Australian Association for Bush Adventure Therapy Inc.

Nature Based Therapy is a member of the Child and Nature Network.

YOUR CANADIAN FACILITATOR - SHERYL HANULA

As a descendant of both Ukrainian and Irish peoples' the effects of epigenetic trauma were quietly marked on Sheryl's life, from before birth. Growing up proudly embodying both of these cultural traditions she was taught self sufficient food production through gardening, by both parents' who also normalized time spent in nature as a way to relax, unwind and connect - the path to Nature Based Therapy was born. Along the way Sheryl's natural curiosity about the human animal – how cultures are unique yet ultimately similar - led to her academic background in Anthropology. After earning her degree (BA) in Anthropology from The University of British Columbia (UBC), she spent a number of year travelling the world exploring and meeting these cultures first hand. During these years she discovered her love of melding the narrative of ethnography with the visual medium of photography, and returned to Vancouver to undertake her Diploma in Photography (Focal Point Photography School). Sheryl's deep, natural curiosity about human lives, nature and the representation of quiet moments of reflection in nature through photography have culminated in her desire to help to heal trauma in all its forms, using nature as both the container and catalyst. Combining the two seeming disparate modalities of photo and Nature Based Therapy, Sheryl has been able to recover from her own lived experience of trauma and understands the efficacy of approaching self discovery through the lens of nature. She is also currently working with the Canadian Horticultural Therapy Association (CHTA) as the Administration Manager, and the Psychedelic Association of Canada (PAC) as their Community Manager.

Qualifications

BA (Anthropology), UBC

Diploma Photography (Dip. Ph.) Focal Point, Vancouver, BC

Nature Based Therapy Diploma (NBT AU)

Sheryl is currently completing her Embodied Meditation Teaching Certification, and will combine this training with her NBT programs to assist trauma survivors to once again feel comfortable in their bodies.

STUDENT ISSUES/ GRIEVANCES

As a student you may find that you need help to resolve problems that arise during your studies. These may be minor issues with administrative matters, your subjects and classes, or the conduct of another student or staff member.

If at any time during your studies with Nature Based Therapy, you experience any of these issues you are encouraged to contact the Principal in writing. The Principal will acknowledge that they have received your complaint and will contact you within three days to provide you with information about support services that may help.

If you are still not happy with the outcomes of your issue, then you can appeal to the Ombudsman in your local state, territory or country.

TESTIMONIAL FROM A PAST STUDENT

The NBT course was a beautiful personal journey and full of inspirations and awakenings. It highlighted the healing power of nature and the need to reconnect with our roots. The content was thorough, and the hands-on learning kept it beneficial and current.

Kit is a wonderful facilitator. Her knowledge is endless, and she created a warm and safe learning space.

I loved every minute of this course. My only regret is that it had to end.
